As we may be in the Wilton Mall past mall hours, please use Home Made Theater's "back" entrance. To find this entrance, drive around to the exterior entrance to JCPenney (the side of the mall facing BJ's). To the right of Penneys is a loading dock. Walk down the sidewalk of the loading dock (with the wall to Penneys on your left) to the door at the end. Once through the door follow the hallway to Home Made Theater's entrance on the right. There is a sign and the door will be open.

Synopsis

Lifespan of a Fact (play) is based on a real-life essay, What Happens There, written by John D'Agata, that took seven years to be fact checked. This piece was commissioned for and rejected by Harper's Magazine but later picked up by Believer Magazine with the condition that Jim Fingal complete a fact check of D'Agata's essay. The thrust of the play is the summary of discussions, arguments, negotiations, and revisions that took place over this seven year period. Lifespan of a Fact invites audiences to consider the deadly serious but briskly entertaining debate of the ethics of factual truth vs. the beauty of literary dishonesty.
